

Some toys from the State Library of South Australia's collection.

State Libraries are different to other libraries. Collections are not available for take-home borrowing. You can look at some of the collections when you come in to the library or online at www.slsa.sa.gov.au

For thousands of years the Kurna people of the Adelaide Plains have told their stories and keep memories of place, people and culture alive in their oral tradition.
A greeting stone by Uncle Lewis O'Brien of the Kurna people welcomes visitors at the entrance to the State Library of South Australia, a place that also continues to keep memories.
Your State Library:
• collects and keeps safe the memories and stories of our
• helps people to learn and research
• shares special stories and collections.

About the State Library

Sharon

Children are important members of the community and are warmly welcomed by the State Library.

Leisel

Hello!
We are teachers at the State Library and look forward to your visit.

This learning program has been made with kids, for kids

Learning with the Library

This means that the learning is designed for you to:

- explore & take risks
- wonder & question
- slow down & notice
- design & create
- learn independently & with others
- make choices about your learning
- access new skills & information
- have fun

The learning we will be doing together will be online. Please share the air time respectfully. Use a clear speaking voice when you talk and listen carefully when others are speaking.

MY DIGITAL VISIT

Meet Leisel or Sharon. Together we will do an Acknowledgment of Country then find out about the State Library of South Australia.

Talk about play with your partner. Watch a video made by kids at the State Library called "What is play and why do people play?"

In your group of 4 look closely at some cards of toys and games from the State Library's collections.

What do you notice?

Pass these collection cards on to another team. Your team will get a different pack. Repeat this 3 times.

Talk about what you discovered with your team. What questions do you have?

Watch a video made by kids at the State Library that explores some games that are played all around the world.

TIME TO FINISH

Before your digital visit:

- Choose a partner and a team of 4 people
- Find out where your school is on the Map of Indigenous Australia
- Think about how you like to play
- Talk about why you think people play
